

DRISHTI SHARES & INVESTMENT PVT LTD. (STOCK BROKER – NSE)

SOME POLICIES & PROCEDURES

1. Refusal of order for penny stocks:

Clients may note that all the stock and securities listed on the Stock Exchange are not actively traded. In other words, there are no readily available sellers or buyers in some securities and / or there are not sufficient trades or volumes from which the market price may be arrived at with some reliability. Such stock are called “illiquid securities” or “Penny stocks”. They are comparatively more vulnerable to market manipulation / price rigging. The spread, i.e., the difference between the offer price and bid price is usually wide and their purchase or sale at a given time may be difficult and in any case uncertain. Exchanges bring out monthly list of such securities based on the volume during the last calendar month.

The Stock Broker does not encourage trading in penny stocks and trade is not allowed in illiquid securities. In exceptional cases, before allowing a trade in illiquid securities or less liquid securities, the Stock Broker may make further enquiry, in case of instructions for sale, into the nature and duration of holding and in case of purchase instructions, into the client’s trading experience, knowledge about the risks in penny stock, risk appetite and proportion of such stocks to total investment, etc.. This may cause time gap between placing an order and its execution. The clients will have to bear that risk of delay in execution or rejection in respect of illiquid securities. Client’s instructions for trading in illiquid securities may be rejected without assigning any reason.

2. Setting up Client’s Exposure Limit:

The Exchange may from time to time fix client exposure limits in the interest of orderly working of the markets. Within that overall ceiling, a client can trade within the exposure limit set from time to time by the Broker for the client. Exposure Limit is fixed on the basis of the funds and value after hair cut of the securities provided by the client for margin. Clients are requested to adhere to the exposure limits as crossing the limit may involve either a call for margin or restriction on further position / exposure. The Stock Broker may need to vary or reduce or impose new limits urgently on the basis of risk perception, risk profile of the client and other factors considered relevant including but not limited to limits on account of exchange / SEBI directions / limits (such as broker level / - 2

- market level limits in security specific / volume specific exposures etc.). Sometimes the Stock Broker may be unable to inform the client of such variation, reduction or imposition in advance. The Stock Broker shall not be held responsible for such variation, reduction or imposition or the client's inability to route any order through trading system on account of any such variation, reduction or imposition of limits. In the sole discretion of the Stock Broker, a client may be allowed to trade beyond exposure limit or the limit may be increased. A client having availed such indulgence shall not be heard to complain about his trades only on this account and shall meet the margin shortfall at the earliest without waiting for reminder. The golden rule is Limit your exposure so as to limit your risk to your means.

The Stock Broker does not believe in selling clients' securities or closing out their positions without sufficient notice to them. The requirement of margin and the value of any given security as margin varies with market volatility.

e.g – if the market goes down by 10%, not only an additional margin would be required equal to this 10%, but further margin would also be required to meet the erosion of value of the securities forming the margin. Higher is the margin deficit, shorter would be the time to make it up. However, in case the available margin falls below the given percentage, say 80%, informed in advance, the Stock Broker reserves the right to sell a client's securities or to close out his all or some open positions to prevent escalation of risk.

The Stock Broker would have the discretion to square off the position of Client's where the margin or security placed by the Client falls short of the requirement of where the limits given to the Client have been breached or where the Client has defaulted on his existing obligation within the stipulated time.

The client may, however, have no grievance if the Stock Broker does not take such action and waits for the client's margin / response.

6. Shortages in obligations (arising out of internal netting of trades or otherwise):

Where a client fails to meet his securities pay-in obligations as due for any settlement and auction is not made by the Exchange because of reasons like internal netting of trades, the client's account is debited for such short delivery at "valuation price or the average of auction rate", whichever is higher. The buyer client shall be credited with the same amount as debited to seller client. In case, no auction price is available in a particular instance, the above-mentioned debit / credit shall take place at closing price on the auction day plus 10% and trading day to auction day high price whichever is higher. If the buyer-client requires delivery of the said shares, he is advised to buy the same next day from the market on his own.

Where a client buys securities in one settlement, and sells the same in subsequent settlement, without having received the payout of the securities, any resulting auction / losses will be the sole responsibility of the client.
